

A local company at the heart of the community

Winchmore Hill based care provider, Home Care Preferred, is a good example of how small businesses can be involved in the neighbourhood and bring together a community spirit.

On Saturday 16th April Home Care Preferred organised a Blues Night in Winchmore Hill and raised money for Noah's Ark Children's hospice. An enthusiastic audience had a treat when they saw a double bill that included a local band called Riff Raff Blues plus a world class set from Mete Ege London Blues.

May is a busy month for Home Care Preferred. Back by popular demand Wayne Hernandez and his band graced Waterhouse Hall in Winchmore Hill again for a night of music and dancing on Saturday 7th May. Wayne recently finished a tour with Blur and has worked with artists including Billy Ocean, Tina Turner and was a member of the band Gorillaz. Wayne and his band are typically on international tours or playing in famous London clubs, however they told us that they "always enjoy the positive and enthusiastic welcome from the Winchmore Hill community" and this event was no different.

On Friday 20th May, Home Care Preferred are launching a Dementia Awareness Workshop for local businesses. The first will be attended by local MP David Burrowes, local councillors and business owners. The idea behind the sessions are to give guidance to local businesses on how they can support their customers and workforce when they are faced with dementia.

Waterhouse Hall will come alive on Saturday 4th of June with the spirit of the Forties when the Compton Players grace the stage for their notoriously popular performance 'We'll Meet Again', a night of words and world war two music. Home Care Preferred will be hosting this event in aid of Alzheimer's Research; tickets will include a fish & chip supper and are already selling fast so we urge you to secure yours before it's too late.

Taking "care to new heights" is something Home Care Preferred strives to do and with this theme in mind the company are looking for a thrill seeking older person to take part in a sponsored tandem sky dive. All proceeds will go to Alzheimer's Society and Home Care Preferred will pay for the cost of the jump and associated expenses.
